

VASCO PROJECTS

Community Health Outreach programs:

We provide community health education, psychosocial support services (through individual and support groups) and preventive care to underserved communities. VASCO works in partnership with Aspira Health Global (<https://aspirahealth.global/>) and leverages on its health portal (<https://aspirehealthportal.global/>) to touch the lives of communities for their holistic wellbeing.

Agroforestry and Environmental Conservation:

VASCO promotes agroforestry and community-led environmental conservation to strengthen livelihoods while protecting the natural resources on which communities depend. We support farmers and communities to integrate trees with crops and livestock, establish community tree nurseries, promote indigenous and multipurpose trees, and encourage farmer-managed natural regeneration.

VASCO also supports the restoration and protection of degraded forests, riverbanks, wetlands, water sources and other critical ecosystems. Through climate-smart agriculture, soil and water conservation, environmental education and community-based natural-resource governance, we help communities respond to climate change, biodiversity loss and environmental degradation while placing communities, women and youth at the centre of conservation efforts.

Community Wellbeing and Youth Recreation

VASCO promotes community wellbeing through youth sports, recreation, psychosocial support, arts, culture and community activities. We use sport and recreation as practical platforms for youth empowerment, leadership development, social inclusion, peacebuilding and positive community interaction.

VASCO supports inclusive youth clubs, safe spaces, community sports activities and creative initiatives that encourage young people to build friendships, develop leadership and teamwork skills, express themselves positively and make constructive use of their leisure time

Through community-based psychosocial support, peer engagement, referral linkages and recreational activities, VASCO contributes to healthier, more connected and resilient communities.

Sustainable Agriculture:

VASCO promotes climate-smart and environmentally sustainable agriculture by supporting vulnerable and marginalised farmers with knowledge, skills and community-based solutions for improved soil fertility, water conservation, crop diversification, agroforestry and sustainable land management. We strengthen women and youth participation in farmer groups and agricultural enterprises while promoting value addition, market linkages and livelihood diversification. Through these approaches, VASCO seeks to improve food security and household incomes while protecting the natural resources on which communities depend.

Public Awareness Campaigns

VASCO conducts public and community awareness campaigns to promote informed, active and resilient communities. Our campaigns address environmental conservation and climate change, sustainable agriculture and food security, health and psychosocial wellbeing, gender equality and social inclusion, education and youth empowerment, good governance and social accountability, peace and social cohesion, human rights and social justice, sustainable livelihoods, and disaster risk reduction.

Through community dialogues, training, outreach activities, media engagement and participatory campaigns, VASCO supports communities to understand their rights and responsibilities, adopt sustainable practices, participate in decision-making and take collective action to improve their wellbeing and protect their environment.
